CHARLENE STERN

FOR

TANANA TRIBES CONFERENCE

...own perspective of their own future and

...work for our region. I strongly believe in the right of tribal communities to determine
I am committed to working hard to advance the vision and interests of Interior tribes."

My mother, Charlene Stern, is the granddaughter of the late Rev. James and Maggie Gilbert, and the daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. James and Arctic Village and an enrolled member of the Native Village of Venetie Tribal Government.
In the past two years, Charlene has served as the Fairbanks Native Village representative and as a delegate to the Yukon-Tanana

INDIGENOUS STUDIES

INDIGENOUS STUDIES

Indigenous Studies is a multidisciplinary field that explores the cultures, histories, and contemporary issues of Indigenous peoples. It encompasses a wide range of topics, including language, art, literature, and social justice. The field is characterized by its commitment to understanding and respecting the diverse perspectives and experiences of Indigenous communities. Key areas of research include the impact of colonialism, the role of oral traditions, and the resurgence of Indigenous identity and activism. This interdisciplinary approach allows for a comprehensive understanding of the complex and dynamic nature of Indigenous cultures and societies.

The study of Indigenous cultures and societies is a rich and complex field that encompasses a wide range of topics. It involves understanding the historical context, the social structures, and the cultural practices of various Indigenous groups. This includes exploring the impact of colonialism, the role of oral traditions, and the resurgence of Indigenous identity and activism. The field is characterized by its interdisciplinary nature, drawing on insights from anthropology, history, linguistics, and social sciences. Key areas of research include the impact of colonialism, the role of oral traditions, and the resurgence of Indigenous identity and activism. This interdisciplinary approach allows for a comprehensive understanding of the complex and dynamic nature of Indigenous cultures and societies.
